300 MAROONED BECAUSE OF FLOOD RAVAGES

100,000 ACRES UNDER WATER IN ARKANSAS

IN THE WHITE RIVER

MANY OF THE HOMELESS WITH-OUT FOOD OR SHELTER, RE-LIEF WORK PRECARIOUS

Fertile fields bordering on the Mississippi river today are inundated; 22,000 persons are refugees; rail traffic in many places is paralyzed; hundreds of militiamen and volunteers are doing levee duty as the broad river—swollen to flood stage—sweeps towards the Delta country. Considerable suffering accompanies the flood tide. At Peach Orchard Bluff, two miles from McClellan, Ark., 300 persons are described as being huddled together on a high knoll, without food and with very scanty attire, as the swirling waters overflow their farms and homes.

A similar situation is reported at Hughes, Ark., in various parts of southeastern Missouri, southern Illinois and Tennessee. Cairo, Ill., is the principal port for the refugees. Beginning late Saturday—after the levees of the Mississippi had broken in four places—there was a steady trek to Cairo which is virtually surrounded by water. Despite the swollen Mississippi, the Ohio and a smaller river, Cairo is believed safe owing to high protecting walls on all sides of the city.

Every available place in Cairo is being used to house the homeless. Halls, vacant buildings and all available rooms have been given to the flood sufferers.

In many parts of Arkansas, where the flood situation is said to be the worst, tents have been erected for the refugees. National guard regiments and the regular army have furnished tents and requests for more have been sent to the war department. The same situation is true in parts of Tennessee and requests for aid have gone out from Mississippi.

Most of the refugees were forced to leave their homes hurriedly. Huge levees, thrown up as protection against the Mississippi, suddenly gave way and the foamy, clay colored water swept over the rich farm land carrying away farm implements, killing many head of livestock and doing tremendous damage to farm houses and buildings.

Thus far the death toll stands at nine but many persons are reported missing, especially in Arkansas where families were separated by hasty departures from flood threatened homes.

No estimate of the damage had been made today although officials say it will be in the millions.

Red Cross officials, army officials and volunteer workers are carrying aid to the flood district. Army airplanes may be used in an effort to bring relief while militiamen and volunteers continue a patrol of the levees on every section of the Mississippi from St. Louis to New Orleans.

Memphis, Tenn., April 8.—(UP)—Relief workers in this district were concentrating their efforts today at McClellan, Ark., which with 100,000 acres of land was flooded following a break in the White river levee yesterday.

More than 300 persons were marooned at Peach Orchard Bluff, two miles from the city. They were without food or shelter and rescue work was made precarious by the rush of water around the bluffs.

Attempts will be made today to get them supplies while they await rescue.

Levee workers at points along the Mississippi, meanwhile, were holding their own. Optimistic reports of the weather bureau gave them hope that the crest will pass without worse damage than that already done.

New Orleans, La., April 18.—Levees along the Mississippi river in this vicinity were reported in good condition today except at Lauderdale where heavy winds yesterday wore the levee thin in several places.

Many residents were preparing to flee and more than 1,000 men were working to reinforce the levee with sand bags.

The river gauge registered a slight drop yesterday but steady rise was reported at nearby points. Water from Friday night's record rainfall still stood in the streets and many portions of the city were accessible only by boat.

KIDNAPING GANG BECOMES ACTIVE IN CHICAGO

Chicago, April 18.—(UP)—Development of kidnaping gangs, which hold wealthy victims for exorbitant ransom as an easier and safer method of robbery than burglaries and holdups, were feared by Chicago police today.

Claiming to know the identity of leaders of a gang reported to be holding two wealthy cabaret proprietors for $100,000 ransom, Chief of Police Michael Hughes ordered that every effort be made to capture the kidnapers. Hughes believes the abductors plan to extend their operations to persons in no way connected with the underworld. Kidnaping in connection with gang warfare prevalent in Chicago has been common for months, police declared today.

GOVERNOR VETOES FIVE BILLS TO RETAIN ECONOMY

MEASURES SOUGHT TO APPRO-PRIATE SUM OF $40,000

GOVERNOR EXPLAINS THE REA-SON FOR HIS ACTION

St. Paul, April 18.—(UP)—For reasons of economy, Gov. Theodore Christianson today vetoed five bills appropriating a total of $40,000.

The governor declared that a measure that would have forced payment by the state to certain counties of five cents an acre on state owned forest lands would establish the precedent of taxing state property for the benefit of "lesser governmental units."

The bill provided a $20,000 appropriation.

The other four bills appropriated a total of $20,000 for state parks or memorials, but in vetoing them, Gov. Christianson said he might reconsider his action.

The bills would have established a memorial in Brown county to commemorate 52 persons killed there in 1862; a memorial to Moose Lake forest fire victims of 1918; a state memorial park at Birch Coulee, the battlefield of the 1862 Indian uprising, and the Sam Brown memorial park.

If these bills are included in the main budget, so that they may be pruned out if necessary, Gov. Christianson said he would favor them.

St. Paul, April 18.—Gov. Theodore Christianson today vetoed the bill for increasing the salary of district court judges, adding it to six other measures that he disapproved earlier in the day. The proposed raise was from $4,800 to $6,000 and it was estimated that the added expense would have been $160,000.

It is believed that one of the men smoked a cigaret about half an hour earlier and threw the lighted butt over the foot of the bed. A hole had been burned in the pine floor. The door and windows of the room were tightly closed.

POSITION OF ALFRED E. SMITH IS ENUNCIATED

RELATION OF CHURCH AND THE STATE FORMALLY PLACED BEFORE PUBLIC

LATTER MAY BE ASKED TO VOTE ON HIM AS CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT

By C. C. NICOLET
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 18.—The position of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York in the relation of church and state today was formally before the American public, which may be asked to vote on him as a candidate for president.

In a statement of faith, Smith put himself definitely on record as believing there is no conflict between religious loyalty to the Catholic faith and patriotic loyalty to the United States.

The governor's statement was made in an article written for the Atlantic Monthly in reply to an open letter from Charles C. Marshall, New York attorney, questioning whether the two could be reconciled.

In his statement, Smith reiterated that he is not actively seeking the office of president, although he would not refuse it.

"You imply that there is conflict between religious loyalty to the Catholic faith and patriotic loyalty to the United States," the governor wrote. "Everything that has actually happened during my long career leads me to know that no such thing as that is true. I have taken an oath of office in this state 19 times. Each time I swore to defend and maintain the constitution of the United States. I have never known any conflict between my official duties and my religious belief. No such conflict could exist. During the years I have discharged these trusts (of public office) I have been a communicant of the Roman Catholic church."

DEFENSE ATTORNEY'S SCATHING ARGUMENT IN SCHALL CASE

St. Paul, April 18.—(UP)—James M. Rees, defense attorney, today started closing arguments in the senate committee's investigation of the 1924 election of U. S. Senator Thomas D. Schall with a scathing denunciation of the state senate.

Rees, in the absence of Tom Davis, chief defense attorney, labeled the action of the senate as "officious, farcical and void."

Minnesota by this action was passing into the ranks of "dark ignorance beside the state of Tennessee," he declared.

WARFARE ON BETWEEN RIVAL BOOTLEGGERS

SENDS GUS NICHOLS OF KANSAS CITY TO THE HOS-PITAL

GETS SERIOUS GUNSHOT WOUNDS
IN HIS HEAD AND SIDE

Minneapolis, Minn., April 18.—(UP)—Warfare between rival bootleggers sent Gus Nichols, 39, of Kansas City, to a hospital where he was in the Twin Cities and said he visited gunshot wounds in the head and side.

Nichols, according to police, has admitted relations with bootleggers in the Twin Cities and said he visited Minneapolis to purchase alcohol for his establishments in Kansas City. One of his places of business, he is quoted as telling police, is a restaurant at Prospect Place, Kansas City.

The shooting happened on the University of Minnesota campus before dawn Sunday. Nichols and three companions were in an automobile. Another drove alongside, and through a slit in the window curtains, a shotgun sprayed lead.

Policeman Harry Wilson arrived after the attackers had fled and found Nichols wounded. His companions still with them. Wilson ordered them to a hospital.

With Nichols semi-conscious, they had driven a short distance when the attackers reappeared and again opened fire. Wilson's return shots were answered by a scream of pain. Then the second automobile vanished.

Nichols was taken to the St. Paul hospital. One of those with him gave the name of Roy Rogers, notorious underworld character. Rogers and the other two were unhurt.

FIRST REAL SEA BATTLE IN CHINA WAR

CIVIL STRIFE GETS A NEW SET-TING IN STIRRING EVENT

THREE NORTHERN CRUISERS
EXCHANGE FIRE WITH A SOUTHERN CRUISER

London, April 18.—(UP)—The first real naval engagement between nationalist and northern ships in China occurred today off Chusan Island, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Hongkong said.

Three northern cruisers exchanged fire with a southern cruiser. Forts of the northern army, manned by troops of Sun Chuan-Fang, and the nationalist flagship joined in the fight. The flagship was badly damaged above the waterline, the dispatch said.

Northern forces reached Hochow, and further looting has occurred at Nanking, it added.

Shanghai, April 18.—Unverified reports that the powers were planning to send an ultimatum to the nationalist government at Hankow persisted today while firing on merchant vessels and warships on the Yangtze river created a virtual state of war.

Thirty-nine warships of the powers now are concentrated at Hankow, and two more American vessels have been ordered to sail for there Wednesday.

The concentration of ships led to another rumor that the powers planned to blockade the Yangtze. Still another had it that General Chiang Kai-Shek, leader of the nationalist moderates, planned to march on Hankow, center of the extremist wing of the government, in his campaign to expel radicals from the Kuomintang.

Two shells hit the U. S. S. Ford when it was fired on by a small party of soldiers on the Nanking side of the Yangtze river. The Ford did not return the fire, which soon ceased. It was attributed to irresponsible soldiers.

LEGATIONS TAKE DEFENSE PRECAUTIONS

By RANDALL GOULD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Peking, April 18.—Foreign legations were taking special defense precautions today against possible anti-foreign violence. The panic noticeable a week ago among the American colony here largely has subsided, but concrete evidence of the fear of foreign officials that trouble might come were visible in the legation quarter.

United States marines, permanently attached as guards to the American legation, have prepared a barbed wire fence along the top of the city wall, which forms the southern boundary of the legation quarter and emplacements have been prepared which would be suitable for gun mounts on top of the wall.

The British legation has stationed an armed sentry in an elevated position whence he can look over the boundary wall between the legation and the Soviet Russian embassy compound. This greatly amused the Russians, who announced they would station a Russian sentry opposite the Englishman to afford the latter company. Russian Charge D'Affaires Chernykh will accompany the last of the embassy staff to Moscow tomorrow, leaving only a few consular officials here.

The United States consul at Hankow reported today that only 68 Americans remained there, including two women. One of the women was Mrs. Rayna Prohme, nee Simons, of Chicago, who is editing the nationalist's organ, The People's Tribune. She told the consul that she was willing under existing circumstances to surrender her rights to American protection, although she retained full citizenship.

In his statement, Smith reiterated that he is not actively seeking the office of president, although he would not refuse it.

"You imply that there is conflict between religious loyalty to the Catholic faith and patriotic loyalty to the United States," the governor wrote. "Everything that has actually happened during my long career leads me to know that no such thing as that is true. I have taken an oath of office in this state 19 times. Each time I swore to defend and maintain the constitution of the United States. I have never known any conflict between my official duties and my religious belief. No such conflict could exist. During the years I have discharged these trusts (of public office) I have been a communicant of the Roman Catholic church."

"The governor's statement was made in an article written for the Atlantic Monthly in reply to an open letter from Charles C. Marshall, New York attorney, questioning whether the two could be reconciled."

He slept quietly last night following a day with his wife and brothers, James and Norman Carroll.

Carroll will proceed to Atlanta federal penitentiary as soon as he has recovered sufficiently. His wife will return to New York rather than live in Atlanta as previously planned, according to James Carroll.

Red Wing, Minn., April 18.—(UP)—Police are dragging the Mississippi river in this vicinity today in the belief that Gertrude Wilson, 17, committed suicide by drowning.

The girl left home last night saying: "I'll never be anything any way. I might as well end it all."

Reports from Vasa, near here, today told of the suicide of Edward S. Hedeon, 44, who took strychnine on Sunday. His health and despondency was given as the cause. He is survived by the widow and five children.

WARFARE ON BETWEEN RIVAL BOOTLEGGERS

SENDS GUS NICHOLS OF KANSAS CITY TO THE HOSPITAL

GETS SERIOUS GUNSHOT WOUNDS IN HIS HEAD AND SIDE

Minneapolis, Minn., April 18.—(UP)—Warfare between rival bootleggers sent Gus Nichols, 39, of Kansas City, to a hospital where he was in the Twin Cities and said he visited gunshot wounds in the head and side.

Nichols, according to police, has admitted relations with bootleggers in the Twin Cities and said he visited Minneapolis to purchase alcohol for his establishments in Kansas City. One of his places of business, he is quoted as telling police, is a restaurant at Prospect Place, Kansas City.

The shooting happened on the University of Minnesota campus before dawn Sunday. Nichols and three companions were in an automobile. Another drove alongside, and through a slit in the window curtains, a shotgun sprayed lead.

Policeman Harry Wilson arrived after the attackers had fled and found Nichols wounded, his companions still with them. Wilson ordered them to a hospital.

With Nichols semi-conscious, they had driven a short distance when the attackers reappeared and again opened fire. Wilson's return shots were answered by a scream of pain. Then the second automobile vanished.

Nichols was taken to the St. Paul hospital. One of those with him gave the name of Roy Rogers, notorious underworld character. Rogers and the other two were unhurt.

Under the terms of the measure one third of the gasoline tax would be transferred to the state road and bridge fund from the trunk highway fund.

The bill now goes to the governor for signature. If he signs it the proposal will be voted upon at the 1928 elections.

CARROLL REPORTED AS RECOVERING

Greenville, S. C., April 18.—(UP)—Earl Carroll, convicted New York theatrical producer, was recovering rapidly today from the attack of psychic coma he suffered last week while enroute to Atlanta federal penitentiary.

SECOND CYCLONE IN A WEEK SUFFERED BY STRICKEN AREA

Fort Smith, Ark., April 18.—(UP)—Three persons were killed and three injured by a cyclone which struck Bukoshe, Okla., 30 miles southwest of here last night, according to reports from that community today. The listed dead are:

Carl Burcham, his wife and baby. The injured are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wood and a 12-year-old son of Burcham, taken to Fort Smith hospital where he is not expected to recover from injuries.

It was the second cyclone within a week suffered by the Bukoshe area. Last Tuesday, a twister swept over McCurtain, Okla., near there, and into Ft. Smith, killing three and injuring several.

In addition to the wind damage, Wister, Okla., in the same county, reported 10 feet of water in some of its streets.

Sheriff Damon Headen of Lake county said no damage from the quake had been reported.

FIRST REAL SEA BATTLE IN CHINA WAR

CIVIL STRIFE GETS A NEW SETTING IN STIRRING EVENT

THREE NORTHERN CRUISERS EXCHANGE FIRE WITH A SOUTHERN CRUISER

London, April 18.—(UP)—The first real naval engagement between nationalist and northern ships in China occurred today off Chusan Island, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Hongkong said.

Three northern cruisers exchanged fire with a southern cruiser. Forces of the northern army, manned by troops of Sun Chuan-Fang, and the nationalist flagship joined in the fight. The flagship was badly damaged above the waterline, the dispatch said.

Northern forces reached Hochow, and further looting has occurred at Nanking, it added.

Shanghai, April 18.—Unverified reports that the powers were planning to send an ultimatum to the nationalist government at Hankow persisted today while firing on merchant vessels and warships on the Yangtze river created a virtual state of war.

Thirty-nine warships of the powers now are concentrated at Hankow, and two more American vessels have been ordered to sail for there Wednesday.

The concentration of ships led to another rumor that the powers planned to blockade the Yangtze. Still another had it that General Chiang Kai-Shek, leader of the nationalist moderates, planned to march on Hankow, center of the extremist wing of the government, in his campaign to expel radicals from the Kuomintang.

Two shells hit the U. S. S. Ford when it was fired on by a small party of soldiers on the Nanking side of the Yangtze river. The Ford did not return the fire, which soon ceased. It was attributed to irresponsible soldiers.

LEGATIONS TAKE DEFENSE PRECAUTIONS

By RANDALL GOULD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Peking, April 18.—Foreign legations were taking special defense precautions today against possible anti-foreign violence. The panic noticeable a week ago among the American colony here largely has subsided, but concrete evidence of the fear of foreign officials that trouble might come were visible in the legation quarter.

United States marines, permanently attached as guards to the American legation, have prepared a barbed wire fence along the top of the city wall, which forms the southern boundary of the legation quarter and emplacements have been prepared which would be suitable for gun mounts on top of the wall.

The British legation has stationed an armed sentry in an elevated position whence he can look over the boundary wall between the legation and the Soviet Russian embassy compound. This greatly amused the Russians, who announced they would station a Russian sentry opposite the Englishman to afford the latter company. Russian Charge D'Affaires Chernykh will accompany the last of the embassy staff to Moscow tomorrow, leaving only a few consular officials here.

The United States consul at Hankow reported today that only 68 Americans remained there, including two women. One of the women was Mrs. Rayna Prohme, nee Simons, of Chicago, who is editing the nationalist organ, The People's Tribune. She told the consul that she was willing under existing circumstances to surrender her rights to American protection, although she retained full citizenship.

BRITISH LABOR AGAINST WAR WITH CHINA

as Ampico Roll Artist

When Zez Confrey and his Victor Recording orchestra come to Brainerd on Friday, April 29, for a concert and dance at the U. C. T. auditorium the citizens of Brainerd will have an opportunity to hear a world famous pianist, the greatest that has ever played in Brainerd. As an Ampico roll artist Zez Confrey is in a class by himself. Ampico rolls do not fit any other piano than the Culbertson which all musicians know is the highest priced piano on the market costing in the neighborhood of $4,000.

A concert from 8:30 to 10 o'clock will be given in Brainerd of a semi-classical nature and also numbers from popular comic operas. Mr. Confrey will also play his famous "Kitten on the Keys" as a piano solo.

The dance will be from 10:30 to 12:30 o'clock and as a dance orchestra this group of players rank with the best in America.

Advance ticket sales will be held Saturday, April 23, at the Economy Drug store from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and from 2 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. Each ticket entitles the holder to a seat for the concert and also includes the dance. No tickets will be sold for the dance only. As only a limited number can be accommodated only holders of tickets will be admitted. The request for tickets from towns in the vicinity of Brainerd indicates a large attendance of visitors.

SAYS BANDITS ARE BAD

Clarence H. Brown Writes of Experiences in Mexico and Arizona

In sending in his subscription to the home-town paper, Clarence H. Brown, former Brainerd resident now in McNary, Ariz., writes in part as follows:

"I left McCloud (California) a few months ago and went into the state of Durango, Old Mexico, and came here a few weeks ago. Conditions are none too good there as you no doubt know. Bandits are getting bold. Am enclosing a snapshot of myself in Mexican garb."

Mr. Brown will be remembered by his many friends here as having been employed by the Woolworth Co. and the "Twin Lanterns" restaurant several years ago.

In the photo enclosed with his letter the writer is attired in a large Mexican hat an article of Mexican garb resembling a horse blanket wrapped mantilla-fashion about his broad shoulders. With the exception of his inevitable glasses Clarence appears in the picture to be a match for any "bold bandits."

Douglas MacLean in
The Paramount Picture
"Let It Rain"

When Douglas MacLean turned weather prophet and said, "Let It Rain," he really meant, "Let 'Em Laugh!" Because, whether he knows it or not, "Let It Rain," his current Paramount release which arrived at the Park yesterday, had that effect. An overflow audience was kept in ecstasies of joy for seventy snappy minutes.

"Let It Rain" represents MacLean as a marine who awakes from a lethargy only after meeting "the one girl." Then, seeing on officer gain her attention, he determines to win forces of Cecil B. DeMille.

his chevrons. How he does this by capturing a troop of mail thieves and saving the government's honor, provides the comedy with a strong plot and plenty of laughs.

Navy Officials Praise Robert Kane's "Convoy" at Washington Preview

Robert Kane took his new Navy picture, "Convoy," to Washington last week and gave a special showing before officials of the Navy Department.

The First National epic, which cost $1,600,000 and four months to make, received the unanimous praise of the officers who gathered at the Navy building to see it, and several high officials declared it to be a "Big Parade of the Navy."

National release of the picture is scheduled within a week in New York City, and the Lyceum is honored by being the first in the northwest to show it.

Jetta Goudal's New Film at Lyceum

The scenes located in Italy and the Sahara Desert, Jetta Goudal's new star picture, "Fighting Love," will be on view at the Lyceum Theatre Tuesday, one day only. This photoplay is the first American made picture directed by Nils Olaf Christander, a famous German picture producer identified with the production forces of Cecil B. DeMille.

READ THE WANT ADS DAILY

The Telephone Pole Ad Is a Thing of the Past

In the old days when every farmer drove the plough-horse to town, he had time to amble along and read the sale bills on the way.

Now the average farmer has his eyes glued to the road while driving his car, and the telephone poles fly by like pickets on a fence.

Newspaper advertising is just as far ahead of telephone pole bills as the auto is ahead of the horse. Both are necessary and do good work. But the newspaper, like the auto, gets more done quicker.

For the Newspaper is taken into the home and read at leisure. It is originally purchased because its particular editorial policy--its individual newsmanship appeals, and the reader has confidence in its judgment. This confidence is reflected on the ads that that Newspaper carries and the advertisers get the benefit of this feeling of dependability.

An ad in this paper is bound to bring results. We can help you prepare it, and can supply you with attractive illustrations to use in it.

Let our ad man call and help you with your advertising.

10,000 LAKES WEEK

THE work of the Ten Thousand Lakes Association of Minnesota is of statewide importance and as such is entitled to all the publicity it can be accorded by the newspapers of the state. The association works for the interests of the state of Minnesota, as a whole. It aims to bring the tourist to Minnesota, and to sell to him the claims of Minnesota as a resort section, a recreation center, a place to gain good health and rejuvenation.

According to announcement made by Frank S. Gold, general chairman of the Ten Thousand Lakes Association Publicity and Advertising campaign, the week beginning May 1 has been designated as Ten Thousand Lakes Week and Mons Mahlum has been appointed by Governor Christianson, as chairman for Brainerd.

During the week beginning May 1, communities throughout the state will cooperate with the Ten Thousand Lakes Association in providing a national advertising and publicity fund of $50,000 which will be used to herald to the world the many advantages of this state. The amount for which Brainerd has been asked as its share in this campaign is $800.

Arthur L. Roberts of Winona, president of the Ten Thousand Lakes Association in speaking of the campaign, calls attention to the success of the effort made last year in the same direction and speaking of this phase of Minnesota's development he says: "The expenditure of $50,000 by the Ten Thousand Lakes Association in national advertising last year was one of the best investments ever made by the citizens of this state. It not only brought us more tourists than we have ever had before, but it has started people in other states talking about Minnesota. It has influenced magazines throughout the country to write stories concerning Minnesota and to publish pictures of our wonderful scenic attractions. It helped to attract people of note to Minnesota who will go back to their homes with good words for our state. It brought us more than 1,300,000 tourists who spent in excess of $71,000,000 here, but to me this is only one of the great benefits that we received.

"In speaking of the tourist business our citizens too often lose sight of the fact that the money which vacationists spend here is only one of the many good phases of the tourist industry. Every tourist is a potential citizen, and the fact that we have the outdoor attractions which can be used to bring people here by the millions is a wonderful advantage, because they come, they see our state and by seeing they are convinced that it is a good place in which to live.

"The point which I am trying to emphasize was brought out at a convention recently held by a businessman, who had been spending his summer vacations in Minnesota for a number of years and has grown so attached to the state that he now makes his home here. He formerly resided in Chicago. Another instance that I recall is concerning a man who lived in New York state and who was lured to Minnesota by the prospect of a fishing trip. He was so pleased with Minnesota that he never did return to New York, but brought his family here to live. He now makes his home in southern Minnesota and fishes in the northern lakes in the summer. Then there are the hundreds who come here for a vacation and who build their own summer homes. These people, while they may not be full fledged citizens become property owners and spend a good part of the year here.

"Tourists are good business stimulators. Most of them are good buyers and they have cash. Those who own summer homes here pay taxes and help us build schools and make other public improvements. They are splendid customers and I believe that we do not all fully appreciate what they are worth to our state."

ST. CLOUD PREPARES FOR ROTARY VISIT

ST. CLOUD Rotarians, according to information sent the Dispatch, are preparing themselves to entertain 2,000 visitors on the occasion of the district conference which opens May 3.

A number of outstanding speakers will be at the conference, both at the general sessions and at the luncheon meetings and visitors, say the St. Cloud Rotarians, are assured of one of the finest programs ever attempted for a smaller conference.

Such well known Rotarians as Ed Silberstein, Norman Black, Eddie Flynn and Tom Sutton will be on the program in addition to outstanding individuals such as Fred Kammiller, Douglas Malloch, Dusty Miller, and others. St. Cloud is also assured of the attendance of Dr. Arthur G. Crane, President of the University of Wyoming, Joe Caulder, Ben Tighe of Fargo and many other men who have a national reputation either in the Rotary or some other movement.

Brainerd Rotarians are assured there will be ample entertainment for both the men and the women. Brainerd Rotarians will present the Brainerd Ladies band which organization will be given an honored position in the parade.

And the ladies will have a good program, too, two days of fine numbers. These will be held separately, for the most part, from the regular program of the conference, with the exception that the Sherman theatre program will be for both.

The program will open at the St. Cloud Country club at 1 o'clock on May 3 with a luncheon and entertainment, motor trip at 4:30 o'clock, banquet at 6:15 o'clock and program at Sherman theatre.

On the second day, May 4, the program opens at 9:15 o'clock with conference sessions, 12:15 luncheon, 1:15 p. m. Rotary parade, 8:30 dance at K. C. hall adjoining the Breen hotel.

And then some Brainerd Rotarians are figuring on leaving their wives home.

VALUE OF CEMENT PAVING

EASTER SUNDAY brought to Brainerd many motorists. Driving home from Minneapolis last night, one saw a steady line of blinking lights, and some were of the strenuous kind that nearly blinded you. This row of flickering lights ran a steady, swishing, roaring stream from Minneapolis, in its densest formation to Elk River, and then in lighter formation, but still a steady procession on past St. Cloud. A girl passenger counted 2,000 cars and then quit with her tongue tired out.

And where did these people go? In large measure they visited towns and cities on the cement highway, Brainerd and our lake region. In all the drive to Minneapolis and back, not over a dozen cars were seen driving off or from side roads. In these days of wet and almost impassable roads the motorist sticks to the cement. All the high sounding trail names can't lure him from the cement.

10,000 LAKES WEEK

THE work of the Ten Thousand Lakes Association of Minnesota is of statewide importance and as such is entitled to all the publicity it can be accorded by the newspapers of the state. The association works for the interests of the state of Minnesota, as a whole. It aims to bring the tourist to Minnesota, and to sell to him the claims of Minnesota as a resort section, a recreation center, a place to gain good health and rejuvenation.

According to announcement made by Frank S. During the week beginning May 1, communities throughout the state will cooperate with the Ten Thousand Lakes Association in providing a national advertising and publicity fund of $50,000 which will be used to herald to the world the many advantages of this state. A number of outstanding speakers will be at the conference, both at the general sessions and at the luncheon meetings and visitors, say the St. Cloud Rotarians, are assured of one of the finest programs ever attempted for a smaller conference.

Such well known Rotarians as Ed Silberstein, Norman Black, Eddie Flynn and Tom Sutton will be on the program in addition to outstanding individuals such as Fred Kammiller, Douglas Malloch, Dusty Miller, and others. St. Cloud is also assured of the attendance of Dr. Arthur G. Crane, President of the University of Wyoming, Joe Caulder, Ben Tighe of Fargo and many other men who have a national reputation either in the Rotary or some other movement.

Brainerd Rotarians are assured there will be ample entertainment for both the men and the women. Brainerd Rotarians will present the Brainerd Ladies band which organization will be given an honored position in the parade.

And the ladies will have a good program, too, two days of fine numbers. These will be held separately, for the most part, from the regular program of the conference, with the exception that the Sherman theatre program will be for both.

The program will open at the St. Cloud Country club at 1 o'clock on May 3 with a luncheon and entertainment, motor trip at 4:30 o'clock, banquet at 6:15 o'clock and program at Sherman theatre.

On the second day, May 4, the program opens at 9:15 o'clock with conference sessions, 12:15 luncheon, 1:15 p. m. Rotary parade, 8:30 dance at K. C. hall adjoining the Breen hotel.

And then some Brainerd Rotarians are figuring on leaving their wives home.

VALUE OF CEMENT PAVING

EASTER SUNDAY brought to Brainerd many motorists. Driving home from Minneapolis last night, one saw a steady line of blinking lights, and some were of the strenuous kind that nearly blinded you. This row of flickering lights ran a steady, swishing, roaring stream from Minneapolis, in its densest formation to Elk River, and then in lighter formation, but still a steady procession on past St. Cloud. A girl passenger counted 2,000 cars and then quit with her tongue tired out.

And where did these people go? In large measure they visited towns and cities on the cement highway, Brainerd and our lake region. In all the drive to Minneapolis and back, not over a dozen cars were seen driving off or from side roads. In these days of wet and almost impassable roads the motorist sticks to the cement. All the high sounding trail names can't lure him from the cement.

Yesterday's hero—Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the New York Yankees, whose two home runs and a single drove in six runs. The Yankees beat the Boston Red Sox, 14 to 2.

The Detroit team, playing its first game of the season, knocked George Uhle, leading American League pitcher, out of the box in the seventh inning, winning from the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 1.

Smashing out three two-base hits in the seventh inning and four more in the eighth, the Pittsburgh Pirates stamped the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 3. A ninth inning rally, during which the Chicago White Sox crossed the home plate nine times, gave the Sox a 12 to 5 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The Philadelphia Athletics got 16 hits, and defeated the Washington Senators, 13 to 3. Gray pitched well for the Athletics, while the Senators used four hurlers.

The St. Louis Cardinals won a close game from the Cincinnati Reds, by a score of 2 to 1. Alexander pitched a good game for the champions, and his team-mates backed him up by bunching hits to put over the winning runs in the fifth.

The Brooklyn Robins suffered their fifth straight defeat of the season, bowing to the Boston Braves, 7 to 2.

RADIO RECEPTION MAY BE BETTERED

Washington, April 18.—(UP)—Partial elimination of existing interference in radio reception will come through temporary licenses now being issued to broadcasting stations, H. A. Bellows, federal radio commissioner, announced today.

Bellows said no licenses would be granted for broadcasting on intermediate frequencies which cause distorted reception. After the commerce department was found to have no power to issue licenses, Bellows said, 123 stations began sending programs on intermediate frequencies.

"The commission believes these temporary permits will bring about a certain amount of immediate and very desirable relief to radio listeners," Bellows said.

PREDICTIONS

MADE NEED NO REVISION

ON BASIS OF FORM SHOWN IN THE FIRST WEEK'S RUN

ESTIMATES OF STRENGTH IN NA-TIONAL LEAGUE NEARLY ACCURATE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 18.—Predictions on the outcome of the major league pennant races, need little revision, on the basis of the form displayed in the first week of the championship season.

Estimates of the strength in the National League apparently have been made accurately with the exception that the New York Giants were underestimated and the power of the Cincinnati Reds over-estimated.

In the American League too much may have been expected of the Athletics and not enough given of the champion Yankees.

Hornsby, Roush and Tyson seem to have made the Giants, although it must be remembered that the New York club is starting against the weakest clubs in the league and may look better than it really is.

Nevertheless, the team has polish and works smoothly on the defense. It was admitted hitting power and the pitching isn't anything to cry about. The team also has sufficient reserve power and if Tyson holds up his early season form he might make a pennant winner out of it.

The Pittsburgh Pirates seem to be strong enough to justify the faith of those who picked them to win the pennant. There have been reports that Ryne or Cronin would not do at second base and that Charley Grantham is not a championship first baseman but such predictions are premature.

The Cincinnati Reds have given reason to believe that the pitching power of the team has been over-estimated. An infield weakness, however, of Hughie Critz, young second baseman, to meet the club's terms, has been mended. Critz and the club have reached an agreement and he is expected to be in his position this week.

The Chicago Cubs have an infield weakness at third base. Joe McCarthy is using Stephenson, formerly with the Cleveland Indians. He expressed the opinion that Stephenson will do but others think not. McCarthy likes his hitting power and he quotes figures to show that third basemen average only two chances a game and that a great fielder is not vitally necessary for the position. Too much stress apparently was laid upon the addition of Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins and Zach Wheat to the Philadelphia Athletics. They are slow on the defense. Many fans believe the team would be better off without the three veterans.

The Yankees looked like sure pennant winners against the Athletics.

PEACHES BROWNING STRIVES TO GET MORE ALIMONY

White Plains, N. Y., April 18.—(UP)—"Peaches" Browning today filed application for a receivership for the property of her husband, Edward West Browning.

Her counsel made the application before Supreme Court Justice Frank Young, maintaining Browning owed a separation recently, back all his bride, from whom he was granted a divorce of $300 a week from March 16 to April 14.

ROGERS HORNSBY IS SMART BUSINESS MAN

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, April 18.—Rogers Hornsby gave his fellow players in the major leagues a good illustration of the possibilities for a smart young business man when he held his ground and secured $116,000 for the stock owned in the St. Louis club.

Hornsby, it is estimated, cleared more than $50,000 on the stock transaction and while he is no longer listed as a magnate he is content as a menial laborer for the New York Giants at $40,000 a year.

There may have been other cases in which active players owned stock in the clubs for which they played. It was generally believed that Tris Speaker, for one, bought stock in the Cleveland club.

But Hornsby's case was the first to draw such prominent attention and it probably will be the last case because it is quite certain that the major leagues will adopt a new rule making it some kind of a misdemeanor for an active player to get title to any stock.

It is a popular pastime to take slaps at the motives of the club owners and when the occasion arises to credit the stories heard that the game itself isn't honest.

Professional baseball, representing more invested capital than any other organized form of athletic amusement, no doubt has some faults but it must be said to the credit of the men in charge of the game that serious efforts have been made to prevent any kind of syndicate baseball.

It has been said that the New York Yankees cracked a financial whip over the Boston Red Sox, that the New York Giants had a piece of the Boston Braves and that Ban Johnson, at one time, held stock in American league clubs although he was the president of the league and in the height of his glory was in a position to make radical rulings about anything concerning any of the clubs.

It may be said even now that the financial manipulation of the deal for Hornsby's stock put the St. Louis club under obligation to the other clubs that kicked in to make up the difference between the price that Hornsby demanded and that which the St. Louis club was to pay but the public isn't interested particularly in that.

It is doubtful that the public was overly concerned at all about the Hornsby case excepting that large part of it who wanted to see Hornsby get every cent he wanted.

There are men in the National league, familiar with the operation of the stock market, who could have arranged the transfer for the Hornsby stock to a dummy owner. Hornsby may have known how to do that himself but there are no reasons to doubt that Hornsby's sale was a real sale and not a transfer to his wife, his uncle or any second cousins.

When Babe Ruth was getting ready to name the price he wanted on a new contract with the New York Yankees, it was suggested by friends that he should seek some stock in the club, that is very valuable and a first class investment.

But the Babe said he wanted his dough in real dough and that he didn't want to be fooling around with any paper.

While it is not of record that Ruth ever experienced difficulty in getting one of Col. Jake Ruppert's artistically autographed checks cashed he did have his faith shocked in other employers from the movie lots.

Several years ago the Babe got a check for $25,000 from a firm for which he did some movie work and as he wasn't particularly short at the time he didn't dash to the bank. When he finally presented the check for some spendable dough he was told that there was no dough there.

The Babe is careless about money that doesn't rattle. He gets so much mail that he used to throw a lot of it away before he was told that he had a duty to his fans which caused him to get a secretary.

He tossed a whole bunch of envelopes away one day and through curiosity one of the members of the Yankee squad opened one of them and found a check for $2,500 from a firm that was paying him royalties on some kind of a piece of merchandise that was using his name. While the Babe is the highest salaried player in the game, Ty Cobb is the richest and it is likely now that Hornsby is second unless Hornsby has been guessing the horses too wrong.

Cobb is rated to be worth close to a million dollars but the biggest part of his fortune came from smart investments made outside of baseball. It was believed once that Cobb had bought into the Detroit Tigers but he denied it to his intimates. "What would I want with baseball stock? There's no real percentage in that," he said.

Yesterday's hero—Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the New York Yankees, whose two home runs and a single drove in six runs. The Yanks beat the Boston Red Sox, 14 to 2.

The Detroit team, playing its first game of the season, knocked George Uhle, leading American League pitcher, out of the box in the seventh, winning from the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 1.

Smashing out three two-base hits in the seventh inning and four more in the eighth, the Pittsburgh Pirates stamped the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 3.

A ninth inning rally, during which the Chicago White Sox crossed the home plate nine times, gave the Sox a 12 to 5 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The Philadelphia Athletics got 16 hits, and defeated the Washington Senators, 13-3. Gray pitched well for the Athletics, while the Senators used four hurlers.

The St. Louis Cardinals won a close game from the Cincinnati Reds, by a score of 2 to 1. Alexander pitched a good game for the champions, and his team-mates backed him up by bunting hits to put over the winning runs in the fifth.

The Brooklyn Robins suffered their fifth straight defeat of the season, bowing to the Boston Braves, 7-2.

Two girls were talking things over. "What's your brother, Tom, doing?" asked one.

The other smiled and replied, "Oh, he's head over heels in love."

"No, not really?" exclaimed the other. "I never thought he was that kind."

Tom's sister smiled as she answered: "And neither did he. But you can never tell. You see, he's reading manuscripts on a popular magazine."

RADIO RECEPTION MAY BE BETTERED

Washington, April 16.—(UP)—Partial elimination of existing interference in radio reception will come through temporary licenses now being issued to broadcasting stations, H. A. Bellows, federal radio commissioner, announced today.

Bellows said no licenses would be granted for broadcasting on intermediate frequencies which cause distorted reception. After the commerce department was found to have no power to issue licenses, Bellows said, 123 stations began sending programs on intermediate frequencies.

"The commission believes these temporary permits will bring about a certain amount of immediate and very desirable relief to radio listeners," Bellows said.

ESTIMATES OF STRENGTH IN NATIONAL LEAGUE NEARLY ACCURATE

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 18.—Predictions on the outcome of the major league pennant races, need little revision, on the basis of the form displayed in the first week of the championship season.

Estimates of the strength in the National League apparently have been made accurately with the exception that the New York Giants were underestimated and the power of the Cincinnati Reds over-estimated.

In the American League too much may have been expected of the Athletics and not enough given of the champion Yankees.

Hornsby, Roush and Tyson seem to have made the Giants, although it must be remembered that the New York club is starting against the weakest clubs in the league and may look better than it really is.

Nevertheless, the team has polish and works smoothly on the defense. It was admitted hitting power and the pitching isn't anything to cry about. The team also has sufficient reserve power and if Tyson holds up his early season form he might make a pennant winner out of it.

The Pittsburgh Pirates seem to be strong enough to justify the faith of those who picked them to win the pennant. There have been reports that Ryne or Cronin would not do at second base and that Charley Grantham is not a championship first baseman but such predictions are premature.

The Cincinnati Reds have given reason to believe that the pitching power of the team has been over-estimated. An infield weakness, however, of Hughie Critz, young second baseman, to meet the club's terms, has been mended. Critz and the club have reached an agreement and he is expected to be in his position this week.

The Chicago Cubs have an infield weakness at third base. Joe McCarthy is using Stephenson, formerly with the Cleveland Indians. He expressed the opinion that Stephenson will do but others think not. McCarthy likes his hitting power and he quotes figures to show that third basemen average only two chances a game and that a great fielder is not vitally necessary for the position.

Too much stress apparently was laid upon the addition of Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins and Zach Wheat to the Philadelphia Athletics. They are slow on the defense. Many fans believe the team would be better off without the three veterans.

The Yankees looked like sure pennant winners against the Athletics.

City

The spring Paint-Up and Clean-Up campaign began in earnest in Brainerd Saturday, when shop men having a half holiday, took to cleaning back yards and raking lawns and boulevards to fulfill the aim of the Paint-Up and Clean-Up campaign.

The Northeast Brainerd Improvement League is sponsoring a campaign during this week and all members are co-operating in getting that part of the city looking spick and span. They are assisting to devise ways and means to get unsightly places cleaned up and made more attractive.

Many improvements have been noted in various parts of the residential districts and already spring rains have benefited lawns which have been raked and cleaned into making them beautiful stretches of green.

Homes and other buildings are being repainted and by the time the week has drawn to its close Brainerd should present an aspect of neatness and cleanliness to both resident and tourist alike.

Business houses are co-operating in the campaign by offering paints, garden utensils and other paraphernalia necessary for Paint-Up and Clean-Up week at tempting prices, all of which have been displayed and advertised in the pages of The Dispatch.

SPRING CLEAN-UP STARTED SATURDAY

Many Shop Men and Others Take Advantage of Half
Holiday

PAINTERS ARE BUSY

Rain of Friday Night Benefited Lawns and Boulevards of
City

The spring Paint-Up and Clean-Up campaign began in earnest in Brainerd Saturday, when shop men having a half holiday, took to cleaning back yards and raking lawns and boulevards to fulfill the aim of the Paint-Up and Clean-Up campaign.

The Northeast Brainerd Improvement League is sponsoring a campaign during this week and all members are co-operating in getting that part of the city looking spick and span. They are assisting to devise ways and means to get unsightly places cleaned up and made more attractive.

Many improvements have been noted in various parts of the residential districts and already spring rains have benefited lawns which have been raked and cleaned into making them beautiful stretches of green.

Homes and other buildings are being repainted and by the time the week has drawn to its close Brainerd should present an aspect of neatness and cleanliness to both resident and tourist alike.

Business houses are co-operating in the campaign by offering paints, garden utensils and other paraphernalia necessary for Paint-Up and Clean-Up week at tempting prices, all of which have been displayed and advertised in the pages of The Dispatch.

MURDER OF MEXICAN CHIEF OF STAFF REMAINS MYSTERY

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—(UP)—The murder of Major Jose Florenzana, 31, chief of staff of the Juarez garrison, today remained a mystery.

Always energetic in the open against enemies of the Calles government, Florenzana last week directed the arrest of city and state officials charged with disloyalty. This led police to believe that the youthful military leader was slain by rebels.

Florenzana's murder put no damper on social life in Juarez, Sunday evening records for attendance at restaurants being smashed.

Easter Cantatas, presenting the story of the Resurrection in song, were sung at several churches. The

COMMUNITY CHURCH BUILT

An organization was perfected, a board of directors chosen and today is ready for dedication.

The dedication will take place on

Connecting Rod Driven Through Side

Ruined

A Flint touring car belonging to
Jay Erickson was taken from the
Rae Motor Co. early Saturday morning by a person or persons whose identity has not been learned.

The automobile was returned before the garage was opened Saturday morning and evidently had seen rough usage, a connecting rod having been driven through the side of the engine block and the motor ruined.

It is thought that entrance was gained through the rear door, seldom used, and that one of the miscreants left this door open early in the evening in order that easy access to the building could be had later.

A reward has been offered for the apprehension of the persons taking the car and authorities believe they will be quickly brought to justice.

Pike Season on May 15

E. H. Perry, for several years manager of the Perry Hardware Co. here, in writing to the Dispatch of conditions around Mille Lacs lake, states in part:

"We took a drive along the west shore of Mille Lacs today (April 17) and find almost every resort making some kind of improvement this spring. And a great many private cottages are going up all along. The resort owners report full up for the opening of pike season May 15th.
Reservations are in from several adjoining states.

"The new electric light plant for the Blue Goose will arrive this week and carpenters will start on enlarging the dining room and building more cottages. By May 1st we will have 1,000 chicks in our new brooder. Mille Lacs lake resort owners are looking forward to the largest season they ever had."

Mr. Perry is starting his second season as proprietor of the Blue Goose Inn, at Garrison, on Mille Lacs lake.

"ORROWS" CAR AND DAMAGES IT

Unknown Person Appropriates Flint
Car From Rae
Motor Co.

OWNED BY J. ERICKSON

Connecting Rod Driven Through Side of Engine Block, Motor
Ruined

A Flint touring car belonging to
Jay Erickson was taken from the
Rae Motor Co. early Saturday morning by a person or persons whose identity has not been learned.

The automobile was returned before the garage was opened Saturday morning and evidently had seen
rough usage, a connecting rod having been driven through the side of the engine block and the motor ruined.

It is thought that entrance was gained through the rear door, seldom
used, and that one of the miscreants left this door open early in the evening in order that easy access to the building could be had later.

A reward has been offered for the apprehension of the persons taking
the car and authorities believe they will be quickly brought to justice.

The Lass Who Loved a Tailor

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright.)

WHEN a young man has, with difficulty overcoming a naturally modest disposition, asked a very wonderful girl to marry him, it is bitter indeed when she gently rejects him, and flatly refuses to tell the reason why.

"Then you do care for me?"
"Not exactly—"
"Not enough, you mean?" His voice was bitter. He looked very handsome, this tall, well-dressed young man, who had fallen in love with Betty Clarkson. He tried to remember when their idyllic friendship had cooled—was it when he had confessed that his father was a millionaire? He laughed at this thought—why, any girl would be an idiot to refuse a man because of his money—besides, it wasn't his money, it was his father's—and if anything should happen to the fortune—he would be poor—Abner wondered if she would like him any better. He would ask her!

It was in that acute moment that Abner Wray's modesty left him—his diffidence became a thing of the past. "Betty," he said mildly, "would it make any difference if I told you that the money all belongs to Dad? Personally, I am a poor man—a mere employee. Like me any better?" he asked wistfully.

The blue eyes flashed through tears. "Oh, Abner, can't you see that I do love you—only I cannot get rid of the idea—the association of your father's business!" There, it was out at last.

Abner was dazed. "Association? Business? Idea?" he gasped. "What's the matter with the wholesale tailoring business?"

"Nothing, Abner, only—you said your father began business as a custom tailor," she stammered.

"So he did, and a good one, too!" he growled aggressively.

"Well, it's that—the idea!"

"What idea?"

"I cannot help it—but I always think of your father sitting cross-legged on a table and sewing!"

Abner could remember that, too, and it was a family joke that the dignified Mr. Wray could sew on his own buttons if it was necessary—but of course it wasn't necessary. Abner wondered how he had ever fallen in love with a girl so utterly foolish as to object to that, then he looked down at her forlorn little figure and longed to put his arms around her. His mouth was set in a bulldog firmness.

"See here, Betty, perhaps you can visualize me sitting cross-legged on a table sewing—and if you can't hold that picture in your mind and love me just the same—why, I don't want your love! I want the kind of a wife that's so crazy about me that she can see me through the husk of whatever honest occupation I have! Even circus clowns have been loved by women."

There was a painful silence.

"Shall I go?" he demanded.

"Please do," she said brokenly, and he went, holding his proud head high, and not looking back once.

After that, time dragged slowly for Betty in spite of the fact that she was extremely popular, and was invited everywhere. Her father had putted her on the back and told her to cheer up—that the right man would come along very soon. "I must say you will never find a finer man than Abner Wray," he added seriously.

Betty did not dare tell her people her real reason for refusing Abner. She seemed to be learning something new every day—she had heard someone say that all our great captains of industry had begun as apprentices, and no one respected them the less.

But to try and visualize Abner sitting cross-legged on a table and sewing a buttonhole made her feel quite ill. It made her feel worse not to see Abner at all! Then, she read a clothing advertisement in the newspaper. There was to be a demonstration of Wray-made custom-tailored clothing—one of the features of the display week was to take place in a large front window of the clothing store. A skillful man tailor would sit there in full view of the public, and make a suit of clothes.

"I will go," said Betty firmly, "and I will look and look at that tailor and see if I really can love Abner and not be ashamed!" All of which sounds foolish but Betty came of a long line of ministers and lawyers, and her pride was high.

At first she paused across the street from the clothing shop, her heart beating thickly. "I cannot really see—I must look right at them," she said to herself and crossing the street joined the crowd.

The man sitting cross-legged on the table looked up and Betty gasped. It was Abner Wray himself, handsome, graver than when she had last seen him, but Abner, the man she loved above everything. She ignored the needle in his hand, the shears beside him, she only knew that he had given her another chance! All she saw was Abner Wray and nothing mattered except that they loved each other. He was gazing at her. She smiled tremulously and her hand went to her throat.

Suddenly the handsome tailor disappeared from the window and another took his place. Nobody noticed when Abner Wray rushed from the store and grabbed her arm.

"Come!" he said, "My car is here," and Betty joyously went!

One Eye Her Oculist Son Could Not Help

The oculist had a joke the other morning. Every now and then he smiled quietly to himself. "You know," he said finally to the woman, "mothers are wonderful people. They always believe there is nobody quite so clever as their own children."

"Now, my mother, for instance, thinks I know everything about eyes. She doesn't confine her boasting to the neighbors, either. She is just as likely as not to walk up to a nearsighted or cross-eyed passenger in the subway and tell him his eyes need attention and that her son is the best oculist in New York. She says that isn't hunting business for me; it's helping people who don't know enough to look after their sight. But the joke is on her."

"Yesterday she met a man who is distinctly and painfully 'wall-eyed.' 'You mustn't let your eyes go like that,' she told him immediately the introductions were made. 'My son can do anything with eyes. Why don't you go to see him?' 'I'm afraid he can't do anything with this eye, madam,' answered the object of her solicitude; 'you see, it's a glass one.'"—New York Sun.

Witty Professor Gave Nickname to Students

Law students of the freshman class in the University of Texas are designated as J. A.'s. The term is used by all students on the campus, but few of them outside the law school know its import and origin.

When Judge W. S. Simkins was a member of the law faculty, he was explaining one day to a large freshman class some of the weightier matters of the law. It was springtime and the students apparently were thinking more of napping on the grass in some shady nook than of what the professor was saying.

Suddenly upon the clear air there came the discord of a donkey's bray. Simkins paused in his lecture while the students giggled over the animal's "hee-hawing." When the noise had subsided, Simkins remarked:

"Some poor jackass is calling his long-tail brother, so I'll let all of you out to go comfort him." Since then, every fledgling lawyer in the school has been designated as a J. A.—Kansas City Star.

Mandy Speaks

When Ol' Mandy, rated as a treasure by the white folks she washes for, first came to the neighborhood she let fall the remark that "if folks hasn't got education dey jes' got to use dey brains."

So anybody might have known she would have her own views on this business of Christmas presents. The other day, when the holiday demands of the fine fat and shining little pickaninies loomed up mountain high, how do you suppose she settled them? Simply informed the five that Santa Claus was dead! "He dadd, do you hear?" says Mandy, "and what's mo' he ain't goin' to come to life again, nuther!" How many other heads of families would have followed her example if they dared?—Philadelphia Record.

Papua or New Guinea

British New Guinea, now known as the territory of Papua, is one of the territories of the commonwealth of Australia. It consists of the southeastern part of the island of New Guinea, with the islands of the D'Entrecasteau and Louisiade groups and all islands between 8 degrees and 12 degrees south latitude, and 141 degrees and 155 degrees east longitude. The area of the territory of Papua is 90,540 square miles, of which about 87,780 square miles are on the mainland of the island of New Guinea, and 2,754 square miles on the smaller islands. The estimated population is about 270,000, most of which consists of native Papuans.

Scott's Best Novel

Which is Scott's best novel? This question was once discussed by Sir William Fraser and Bulwer-Lytton. They agreed each to write his choice on a separate slip of paper and compare. Sir William announced that he knew in advance they would agree. They both wrote "The Bride of Lammermoor." Mark Twain hated the novels of Scott. He regarded him as one of the world's worst writers. Then some one persuaded him to read "Quentin Durward," and he was so captivated that he declared Scott could not have written it.—William Lyon Phelps in Scribner's Magazine.

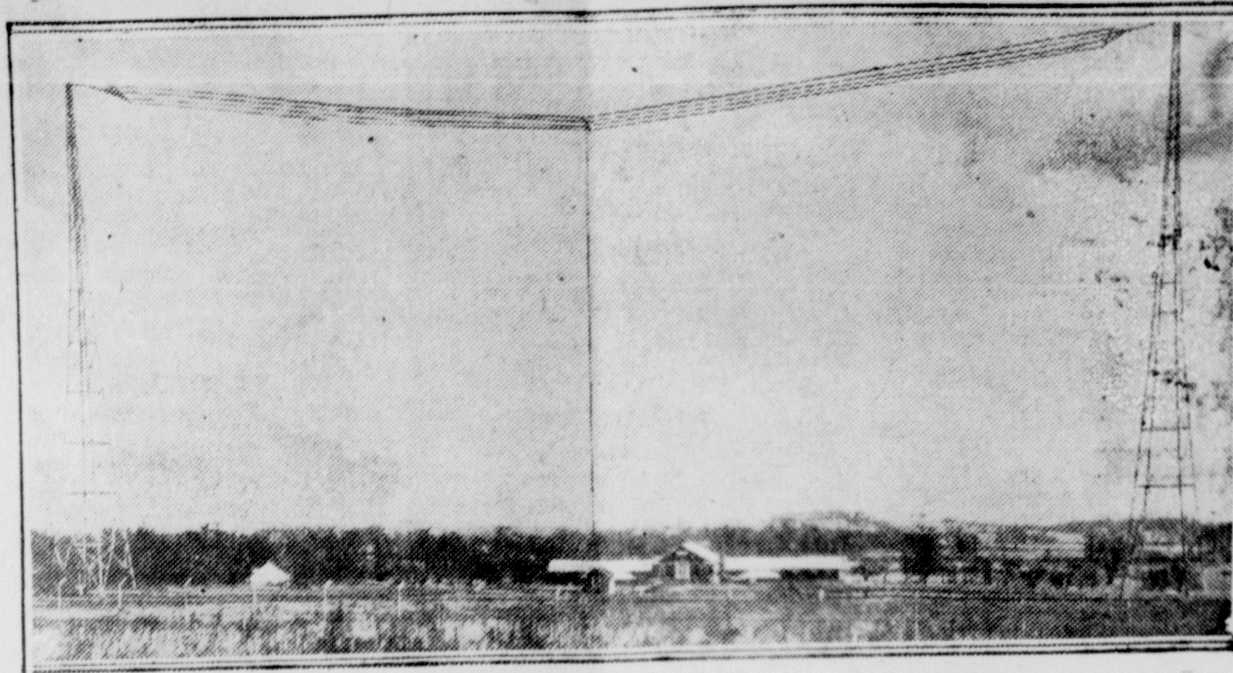

Frost and Humidity

The weather bureau says that the occurrence of frost is determined by temperature and humidity. If the temperature of an object falls below the dewpoint for saturation temperature of the air, dew will gather on it if its temperature is above the freezing point, or frost if its temperature is below the freezing point. However, exposed objects are not likely to cool below the dewpoint when the sky is clouded. Hence frost seldom occurs on cloudy nights, and never in great amount.

New Altitude Indicator

Eight times as sensitive as a barometer. This is the claim made for a new instrument which measures altitudes above sea level. French physicists have invented this efficient method, which involves heating a wire of resistance by passing an electric current through it. When a steady temperature has been produced, the wire, if moved upwards, will become cooler owing to the lesser density of the surrounding air. The instrument can be carried by climbers. The drop in temperature gives a more accurate index of the increase in altitude than the ordinary pocket aneroid used by mountaineers.

Study of Nature Made School's Special Work

The main object of the study of nature in the Berkeley (Calif.) elementary schools is to give each child the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the simplest phases of plant and animal life, writes Clella Paroni, in Nature Magazine of Washington. This, the nature study teacher says, keeps the pupil active, interested and looking for new aspects of the life about him, and makes him a happy and helpful member of his group.

As to nature study, Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, says: "There is nothing but unanimity of opinion among the women leaders of the nation regarding the necessity of teaching children to know, appreciate and enjoy nature. It is due to every child that his mind be opened to the voices of nature; all his senses so trained and adjusted that the world will become alive to him."

Nature work is part of the class work from the kindergarten to the high sixth grade, 75 minutes being scheduled for it in the lower and 50 minutes in the upper grades, the teacher says. Being correlated with language, reading, geography, art, music, and manual work, more than the allotted time is often given to it.

In the lower grades the work consists, as much as possible, of the observation and study of live forms of plant and animal life, found in the child's home environment.

Where classes are small enough and where parks, hillside, the university campus, children's home gardens or school gardens are located in the neighborhood, field trips are taken.

These nature activities have been found to greatly vitalize the other subjects of the classroom, and teachers have admitted the greater interest that pupils have shown in reading and in oral and written language work and have also acknowledged a new and happier interest on their own part in their teaching work.

Citizens Rout Bandits

For a very good reason one hears less of the Bulgarian-Macedonian comitadjis these days. Formerly the bands formed in Bulgaria and rode across Macedonian southern Serbia to Albania, plundering and levying tribute on the villagers as they galloped through. They would rest a while in Albania, and then fight and plunder their way back again to Bulgaria. The Yugo-Slav government has organized the villages to protect themselves. Each village was asked if it wanted arms. Most of the villages answered in the affirmative. Arms and ammunition were distributed, and a sergeant was detailed to each village to organize the defense. After a few raids in which the comitadjis had heavy losses, they gave up their activities. For some time all has been quiet in southern Serbia.

The Lass Who Loved a Tailor

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright.)

WHEN a young man has, with difficulty overcoming a naturally modest disposition, asked a very wonderful girl to marry him, it is bitter indeed when she gently rejects him, and flatly refuses to tell the reason why.

"Then you do care for me?"

"Not exactly."

"Not enough, you mean?" His voice was bitter. He looked very handsome, this tall, well-dressed young man, who had fallen in love with Betty Clarkson. He tried to remember when their idyllic friendship had cooled—was it when he had confessed that his father was a millionaire? He laughed at this thought—why, any girl would be an idiot to refuse a man because of his money—besides, it wasn't his money, it was his father's—and if anything should happen to the fortune—he would be poor—Abner wondered if she would like him any better. He would ask her!

It was in that acute moment that Abner Wray's modesty left him—his diffidence became a thing of the past. "Betty," he said mildly, "would it make any difference if I told you that the money all belongs to Dad? Personally, I am a poor man—a mere employee. Like me any better?" he asked wistfully.

The blue eyes flashed through tears. "Oh, Abner, can't you see that I do love you—only I cannot get rid of the idea—the association of your father's business!" There, it was out at last.

Abner was dazed. "Association? Business? Idea?" he gasped. "What's the matter with the wholesale tailoring business?"

"Nothing, Abner, only—you said your father began business as a custom tailor," she stammered.

"So he did, and a good one, too!" he growled aggressively.

"Well, it's that—the idea!"

"What idea?"

"I cannot help it—but I always think of your father sitting cross-legged on a table and sewing!"

Abner could remember that, too, and it was a family joke that the dignified Mr. Wray could sew on his own buttons if it was necessary—but of course it wasn't necessary. Abner wondered how he had ever fallen in love with a girl so utterly foolish as to object to that, then he looked down at her forlorn little figure and longed to put his arms around her. His mouth was set in a bulldog firmness.

"See here, Betty, perhaps you can visualize me sitting cross-legged on a table sewing—and if you can't hold that picture in your mind and love me just the same—why, I don't want your love! I want the kind of a wife that's so crazy about me that she can see me through the husk of whatever honest occupation I have! Even circus clowns have been loved by women."

There was a painful silence.

"Shall I go?" he demanded.

"Please do," she said brokenly, and he went, holding his proud head high, and not looking back once.

After that, time dragged slowly for Betty in spite of the fact that she was extremely popular, and was invited everywhere. Her father had put her on the back and told her to cheer up—that the right man would come along very soon. "I must say you will never find a finer man than Abner Wray," he added seriously.

Betty did not dare tell her people her real reason for refusing Abner. She seemed to be learning something new every day—she had heard someone say that all our great captains of industry had begun as apprentices, and no one respected them the less.

But to try and visualize Abner sitting cross-legged on a table and sewing a buttonhole made her feel quite ill. It made her feel worse not to see Abner at all! Then, she read a clothing advertisement in the newspaper. There was to be a demonstration of Wray-made custom-tailored clothing—one of the features of the display week was to take place in a large front window of the clothing store. A skillful man tailor would sit there in full view of the public, and make a suit of clothes.

"I will go," said Betty firmly, "and I will look and look at that tailor and see if I really can love Abner and not be ashamed!" All of which sounds foolish but Betty came of a long line of ministers and lawyers, and her pride was high.

At first she paused across the street from the clothing shop, her heart beating thickly. "I cannot really see—I must look right at them," she said to herself and crossing the street joined the crowd.

The man sitting cross-legged on the table looked up and Betty gasped. It was Abner Wray himself, handsome, graver than when she had last seen him, but Abner, the man she loved above everything. She ignored the needle in his hand, the shears beside him, she only knew that he had given her another chance! All she saw was Abner Wray and nothing mattered except that they loved each other. He was gazing at her. She smiled tremulously and her hand went to her throat.

Suddenly the handsome tailor disappeared from the window and another took his place. Nobody noticed when Abner Wray rushed from the store and grabbed her arm.

"Come!" he said, "My car is here," and Betty joyously went!

One Eye Her Oculist Son Could Not Help

The oculist had a joke the other morning. Every now and then he smiled quietly to himself, "You know," he said finally to the woman, "mothers are wonderful people. They always believe there is nobody quite so clever as their own children."

"Now, my mother, for instance, thinks I know everything about eyes. She doesn't confine her boasting to the neighbors, either. She is just as likely as not to walk up to a nearsighted or cross-eyed passenger in the subway and tell him his eyes need attention and that her son is the best oculist in New York. She says that isn't hunting business for me; it's helping people who don't know enough to look after their sight. But the joke is on her."

"Yesterday she met a man who is distinctly and painfully 'wall-eyed.' 'You mustn't let your eyes go like that,' she told him immediately the introductions were made. 'My son can do anything with eyes. Why don't you go to see him?' 'I'm afraid he can't do anything with this eye, madam,' answered the object of her solicitude; 'you see, it's a glass one.'"—New York Sun.

Witty Professor Gave Nickname to Students

Law students of the freshman class in the University of Texas are designated as J. A.'s. The term is used by all students on the campus, but few of them outside the law school know its import and origin.

When Judge W. S. Simkins was a member of the law faculty, he was explaining one day to a large freshman class some of the weightier matters of the law. It was springtime and the students apparently were thinking more of napping on the grass in some shady nook than of what the professor was saying.

Suddenly upon the clear air there came the discord of a donkey's bray. Simkins paused in his lecture while the students giggled over the animal's "hee-hawing." When the noise had subsided, Simkins remarked:

"Some poor jackass is calling his long-lost brother, so I'll let all of you out to go comfort him." Since then, every fledgling lawyer in the school has been designated as a J. A.—Kansas City Star.

Mandy Speaks

When Ol' Mandy, rated as a treasure by the white folks she washes for, first came to the neighborhood she let fall the remark that "if folks hasn't got education dey jes' got to use dey brains."

So anybody might have known she would have her own views on this business of Christmas presents. The other day, when the holiday demands of the fine fat and shining little pickaninies loomed up mountain high, how do you suppose she settled them? Simply informed the five that Santa Claus was dead! "He daid, do you hear?" says Mandy, "and what's mo' he ain't goin' to come to life again, nuther!" How many other heads of families would have followed her example if they dared?—Philadelphia Record.

Papua or New Guinea

British New Guinea, now known as the territory of Papua, is one of the territories of the commonwealth of Australia. It consists of the southeastern part of the island of New Guinea, with the islands of the D'Entrecasteau and Louisiade groups and all islands between 8 degrees and 12 degrees south latitude, and 141 degrees and 155 degrees east longitude. The area of the territory of Papua is 90,540 square miles, of which about 87,786 square miles are on the mainland of the island of New Guinea, and 2,754 square miles on the smaller islands. The estimated population is about 276,000, most of which consists of native Papuans.

Scott's Best Novel

Which is Scott's best novel? This question was once discussed by Sir William Fraser and Bulwer-Lytton. They agreed each to write his choice on a separate slip of paper and compare. Sir William announced that he knew in advance they would agree. They both wrote "The Bridge of Lammermoor." Mark Twain hated the novels of Scott. He regarded him as one of the world's worst writers. Then some one persuaded him to read "Quentin Durward," and he was so captivated that he declared Scott could not have written it.—William Lyon Phelps in Scribner's Magazine.

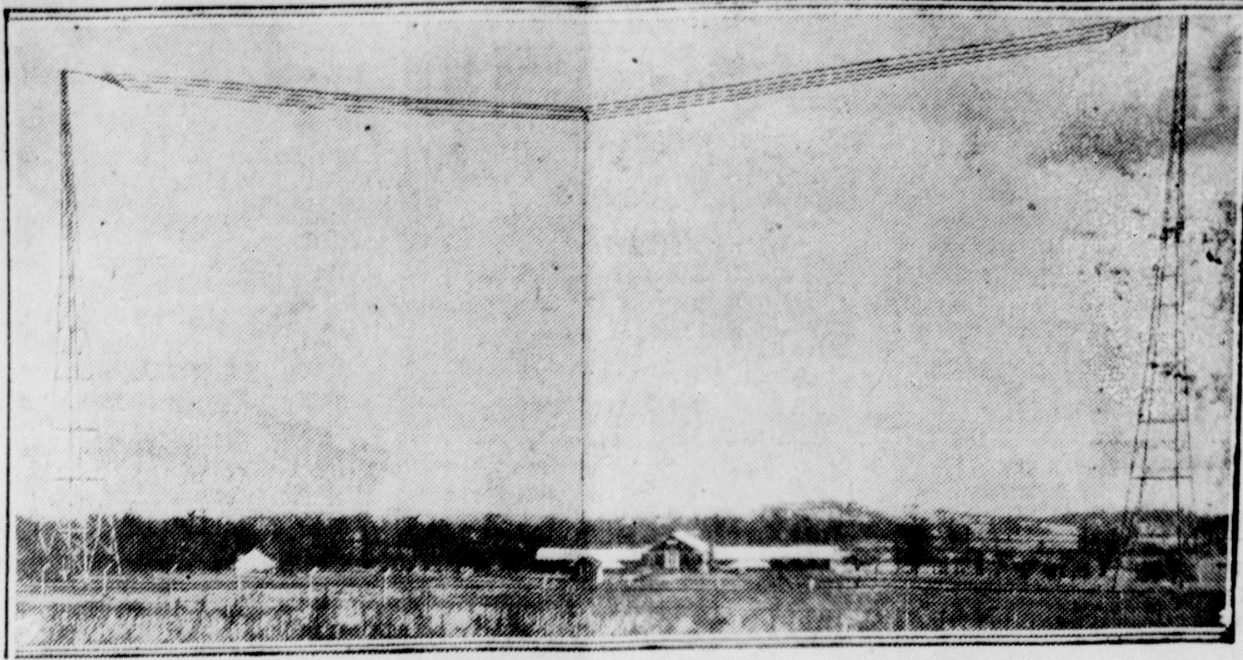

Frost and Humidity

The weather bureau says that the occurrence of frost is determined by temperature and humidity. If the temperature of an object falls below the dewpoint for saturation temperature of the air, dew will gather on it if its temperature is above the freezing point, or frost if its temperature is below the freezing point. However, exposed objects are not likely to cool below the dewpoint when the sky is clouded. Hence frost seldom occurs on cloudy nights, and never in great amount.

Play or Get Off Stage

Shakespeare says, "All the world's a stage and men and women are but actors on it." But he failed to say there's an understudy ready and waiting to take the conceit out of most of us. Let us play our parts well.—Grit.

Radio Station Used in Television Demonstration

This is a picture of 3XN, the experimental radio station of the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Whippany, New Jersey, from which television by radio was demonstrated on April 7. After a program had been radiocast to New York, the announcer gave the time by showing the face of a clock by television and signed off for the station.

New Altitude Indicator

Eight times as sensitive as a barometer. This is the claim made for a new instrument which measures altitudes above sea level. French physicists have invented this efficient method, which involves heating a wire of resistance by passing an electric current through it. When a steady temperature has been produced, the wire, if moved upwards, will become cooler owing to the lesser density of the surrounding air. The instrument can be carried by climbers. The drop in temperature gives a more accurate index of the increase in altitude than the ordinary pocket aneroid used by mountaineers.

Study of Nature Made School's Special Work

The main object of the study of nature in the Berkeley (Calif.) elementary schools is to give each child the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the simplest phases of plant and animal life, writes Clelia Paroni, in Nature Magazine of Washington. This, the nature study teacher says, keeps the pupil active, interested and looking for new aspects of the life about him, and makes him a happy and helpful member of his group.

As to nature study, Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, says: "There is nothing but unanimity of opinion among the women leaders of the nation regarding the necessity of teaching children to know, appreciate and enjoy nature. It is due to every child that his mind be opened to the voices of nature; all his senses so trained and adjusted that the world will become alive to him."

Nature work is part of the class work from the kindergarten to the high sixth grade, 75 minutes being scheduled for it in the lower and 50 minutes in the upper grades, the teacher says. Being correlated with language, reading, geography, art, music, and manual work, more than the allotted time is often given to it.

In the lower grades the work consists, as much as possible, of the observation and study of live forms of plant and animal life, found in the child's home environment.

Where classes are small enough and where parks, hillside, the university campus, children's home gardens or school gardens are located in the neighborhood, field trips are taken.

These nature activities have been found to greatly vitalize the other subjects of the classroom, and teachers have admitted the greater interest that pupils have shown in reading and in oral and written language work and have also acknowledged a new and happier interest on their own part in their teaching work.

Citizens Rout Bandits

For a very good reason one hears less of the Bulgarian-Macedonian comitadjis these days. Formerly the bands formed in Bulgaria and rode across Macedonian southern Serbia to Albania, plundering and levying tribute on the villagers as they galloped through. They would rest a while in Albania, and then fight and plunder their way back again to Bulgaria. The Yugo-Slav government has organized the villages to protect themselves. Each village was asked if it wanted arms. Most of the villages answered in the affirmative. Arms and ammunition were distributed, and a sergeant was detailed to each village to organize the defense. After a few raids in which the comitadjis had heavy losses, they gave up their activities. For some time all has been quiet in southern Serbia.
